Pale color. Slightly reduced aromas of wet stone, menthol and toast. Juicy and firmly built, with good citric cut contributing to an impression of intensity. Finishes silky and saline, but this fairly rich premier cru is not yet expressing itself. 89(+?) points

(half in wood foudres, half in stainless steel tank) Bright, pale yellow. Good thrust to the aromas of citrus and stone fruits, flowers and menthol. Fatter and denser than the Cote de Joan but with more energy as well. The apple and peach flavors show good depth and persistence. This has much more breadth and palate presence. 88-91 points

Delicious with
Seafood and shell-fish.
